

Working with Clients
to Measure Water Savings and Nutrient Load Reduction
Associated with their BMP Implementation

June 7, 2022 | 1 pm - 5 pm

Hyatt Regency Sarasota

1000 Boulevard of the Arts | Sarasota, Florida 34236

Registration

Must register as a FSHS meeting attendee

www.fshs.org and on PDEC pdec.ifas.ufl.edu

This training will begin immediately following the Extension Luncheon. The luncheon requires registration and is a ticketed event.

To receive account numbers for reimbursement or any questions, please contact Jamie Burrow at jdates@ufl.edu or 863-956-8648 or Davie Kadyampakeni at dkadyampakeni@ufl.edu or 863-956-8843

UF IST# 32104: IST will be held in conjunction with the Florida State Horticultural Society annual meeting

Seating is limited!

Topics and Speakers

Best Management Practices (BMPs) Research and Extension Perspectives and Impacts, Dr. Michael Dukes

Using Smart Irrigation in Citrus and Vegetable Cropping Systems for Saving Water and Nutrients,
Dr. Kelly Morgan

Implementing Irrigation and Nitrogen BMPS in Potato Cropping Systems in Florida, Dr. Lincoln Zotarelli

Importance of the active root zone and fertilizer placement in BMPs, Dr. Shinsuke Agehara

Rising prices worrying specialty crop producers: Valuation of BMPS in Florida, Dr. Kimberly Morgan

Implementing Nitrogen BMPS in Selected Row Cropping Systems in Florida, Dr. Lakesh Sharma